Gordy Rich:

What we really like about working with Barnes Dennig is their responsiveness. When we have a question, someone's always there to answer it for us, and help us as we make the financial decisions we need to do to continue to grow our business. I think all of the constructive work that we've done, both on the audit and business side, tax planning, working with state agencies, federal. All the things that Barnes, through both the audit team and the tax team, have helped us look at opportunities, have allowed us to expand our business regionally through taking advantage of some of the opportunities they've shown us.

We feel very confident today that the processes and procedures we have in place are the highest there are out there. So I have great confidence that the numbers we're generating internally when they get audited are the actual numbers we end up with. I would say that Barnes Dennig gives me confidence that, not only on the business side, has their audit proven that our financials are in order, but gives me confidence that we can continue to grow, and even doing my personal taxes, knowing that the foundation we've built has allowed us to continue to build. Absolutely, we would recommend Barnes Dennig, and actually, 2026 is our 20th year working with Barnes Dennig. So it's been quite a relationship and business partnership.
